

CONCEPT & CREATION

ABOUT FOUNDER

Maram Abuznada is an architect by training and a strategist by instinct. She builds at the intersection of space, business, and human experience, translating scattered founder visions into clear, high-performing direction. Years spent across architecture, strategy, education, and creative leadership.

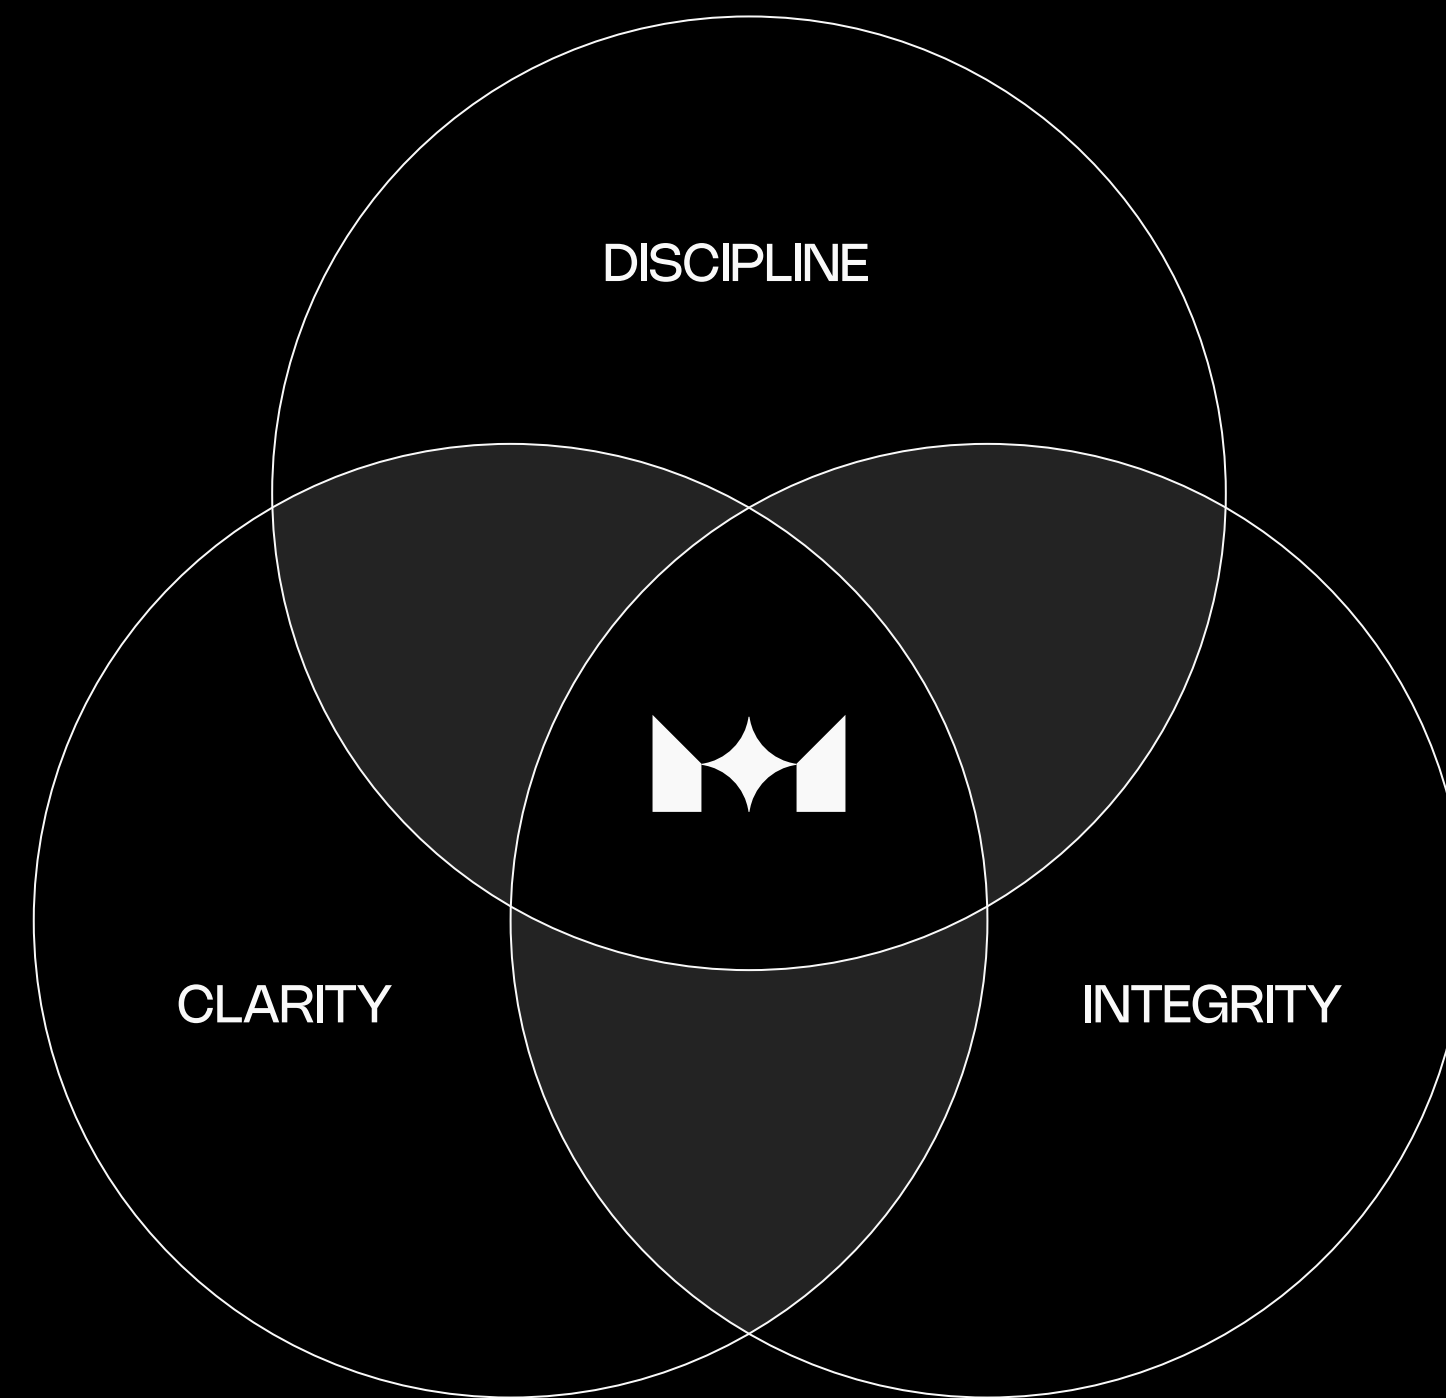

ABOUT PROJECT

The Maram is a personal authority brand, not a company. It exists to make one thing visible: a way of thinking that connects creativity, spatial design, business strategy, and human experience into a single clear direction. This identity marks the start of that presence, built to earn trust before it asks for attention.

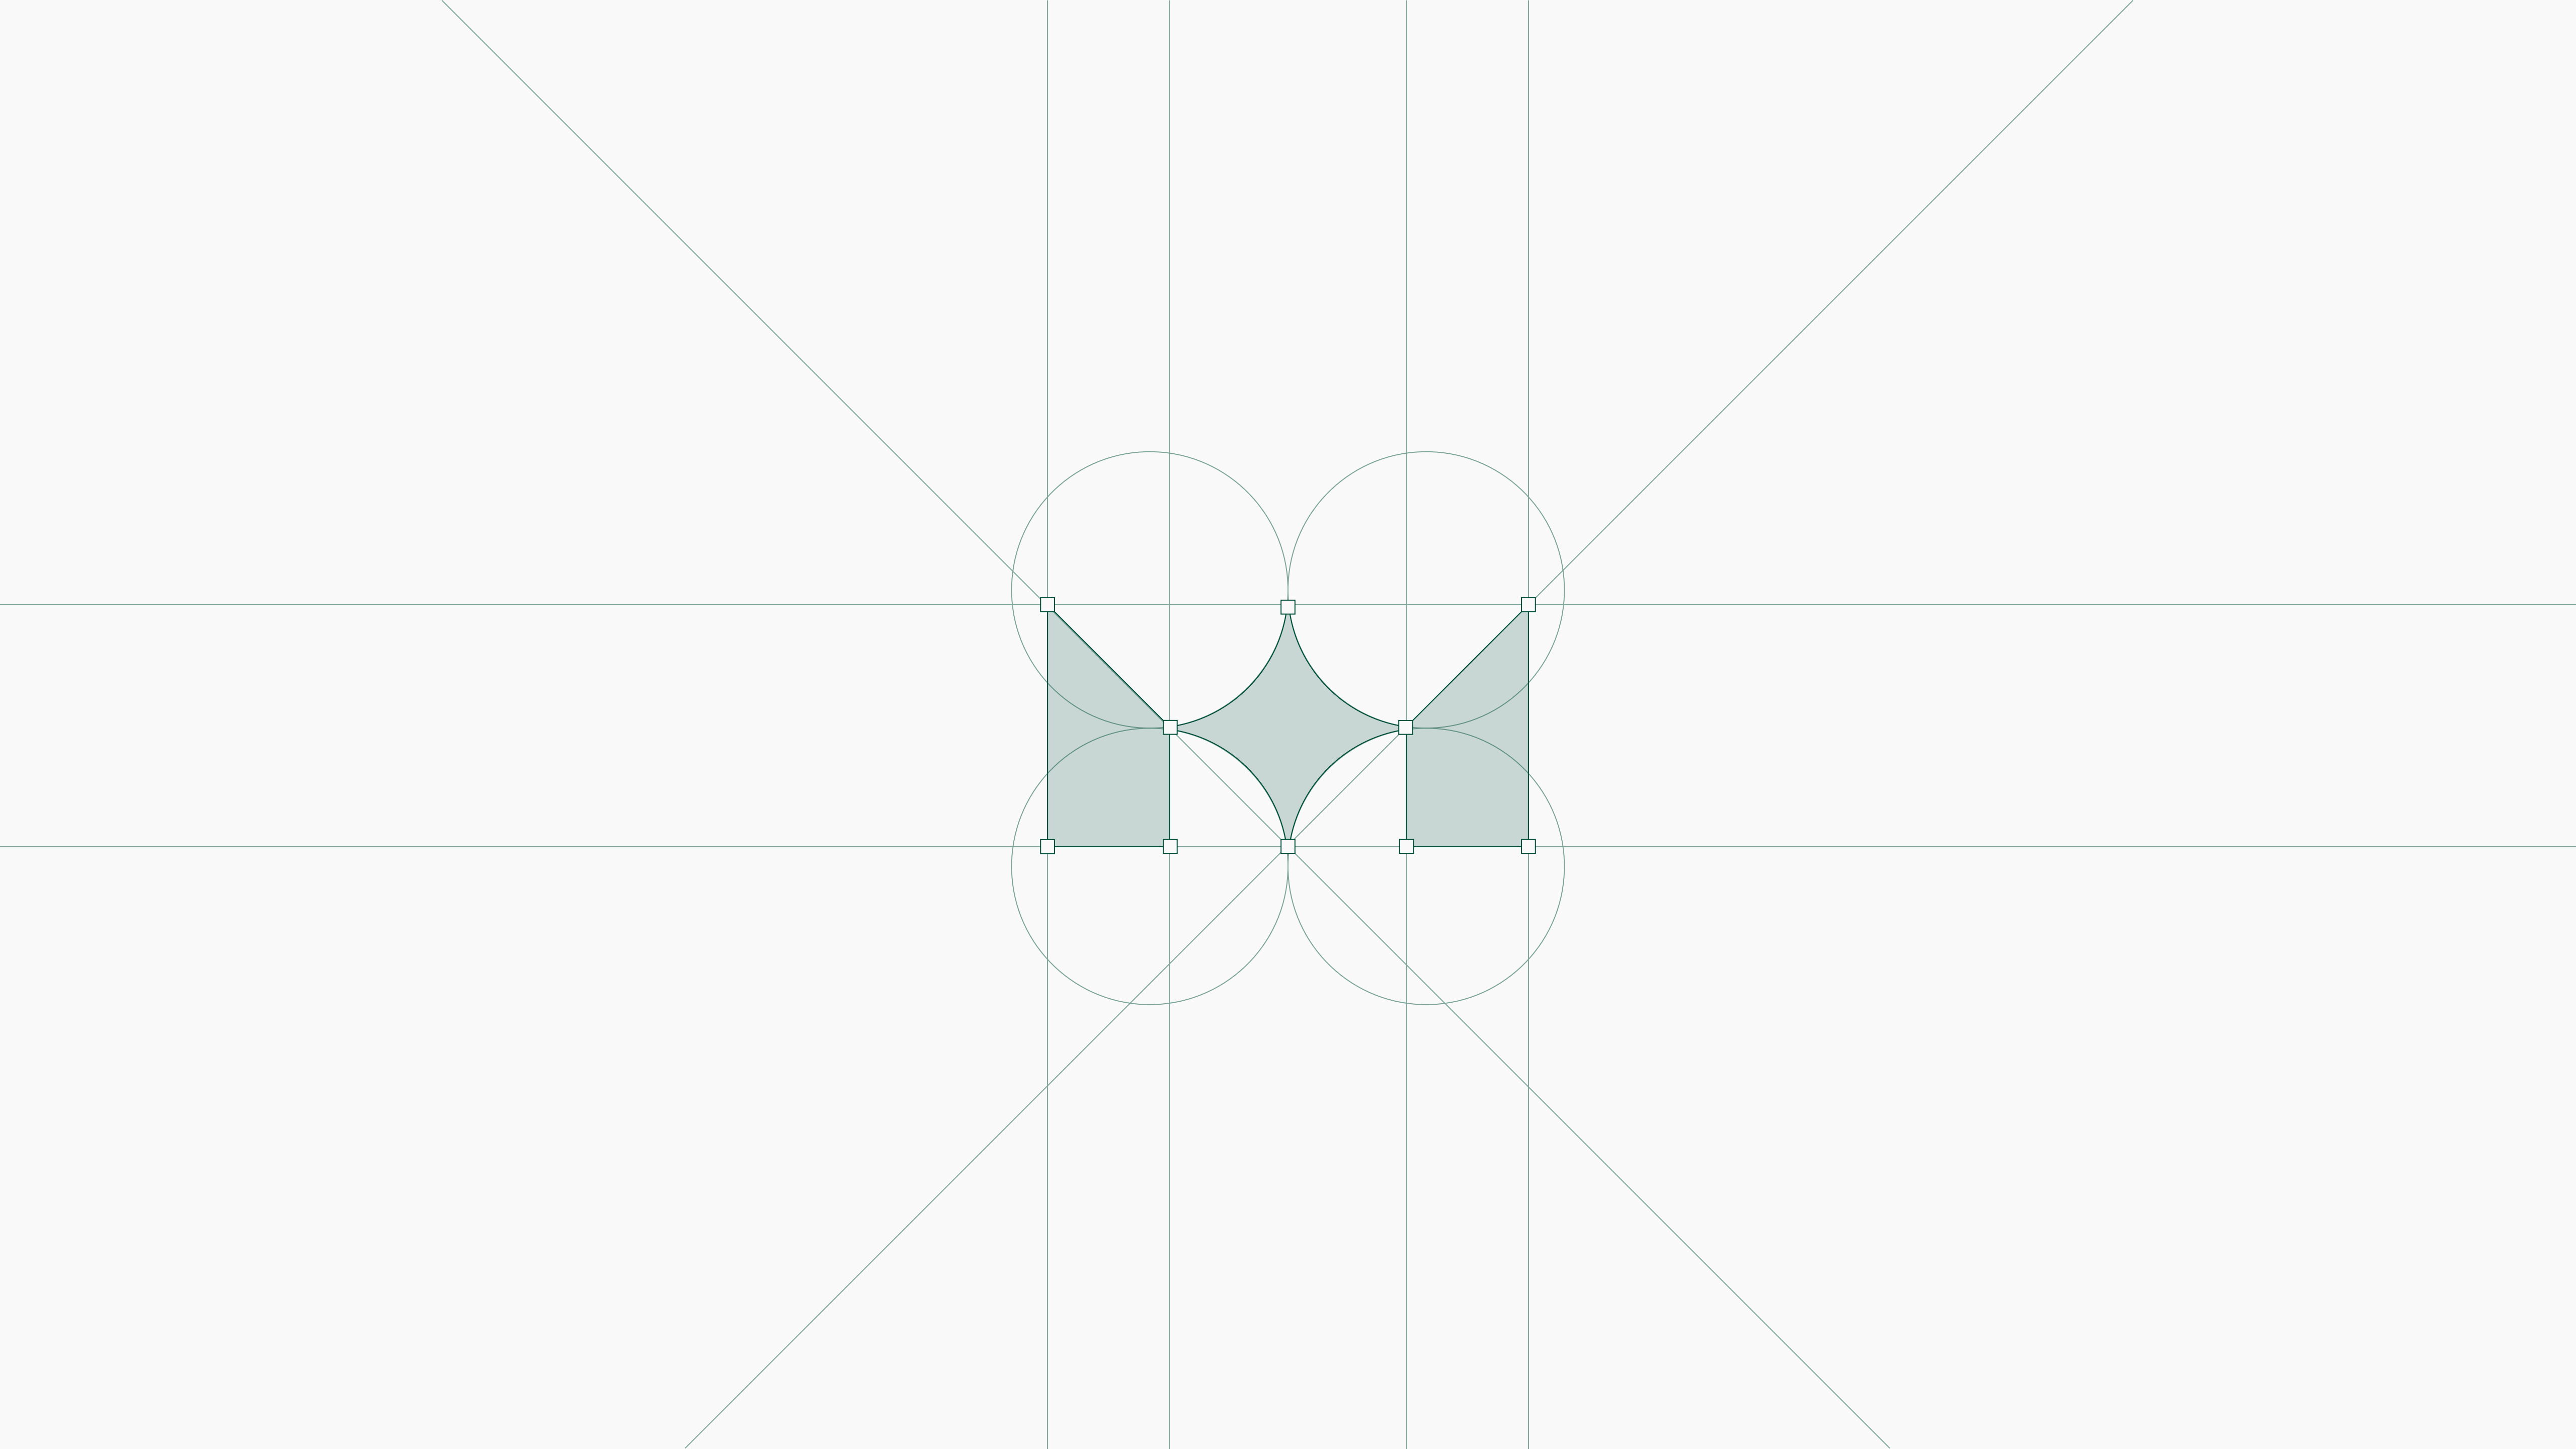

BRAND PERSONALITY

Clear-eyed and unhurried. The Maram leads with structure, not spectacle: precise language, formal posture, and a quiet confidence that comes from having already done the thinking. Warm enough to mentor, sharp enough to be trusted with hard decisions. Never decorative, never soft for the sake of appearing approachable. The star at the center of the mark says it plainly: one identity, many disciplines, all expanding from the same core.

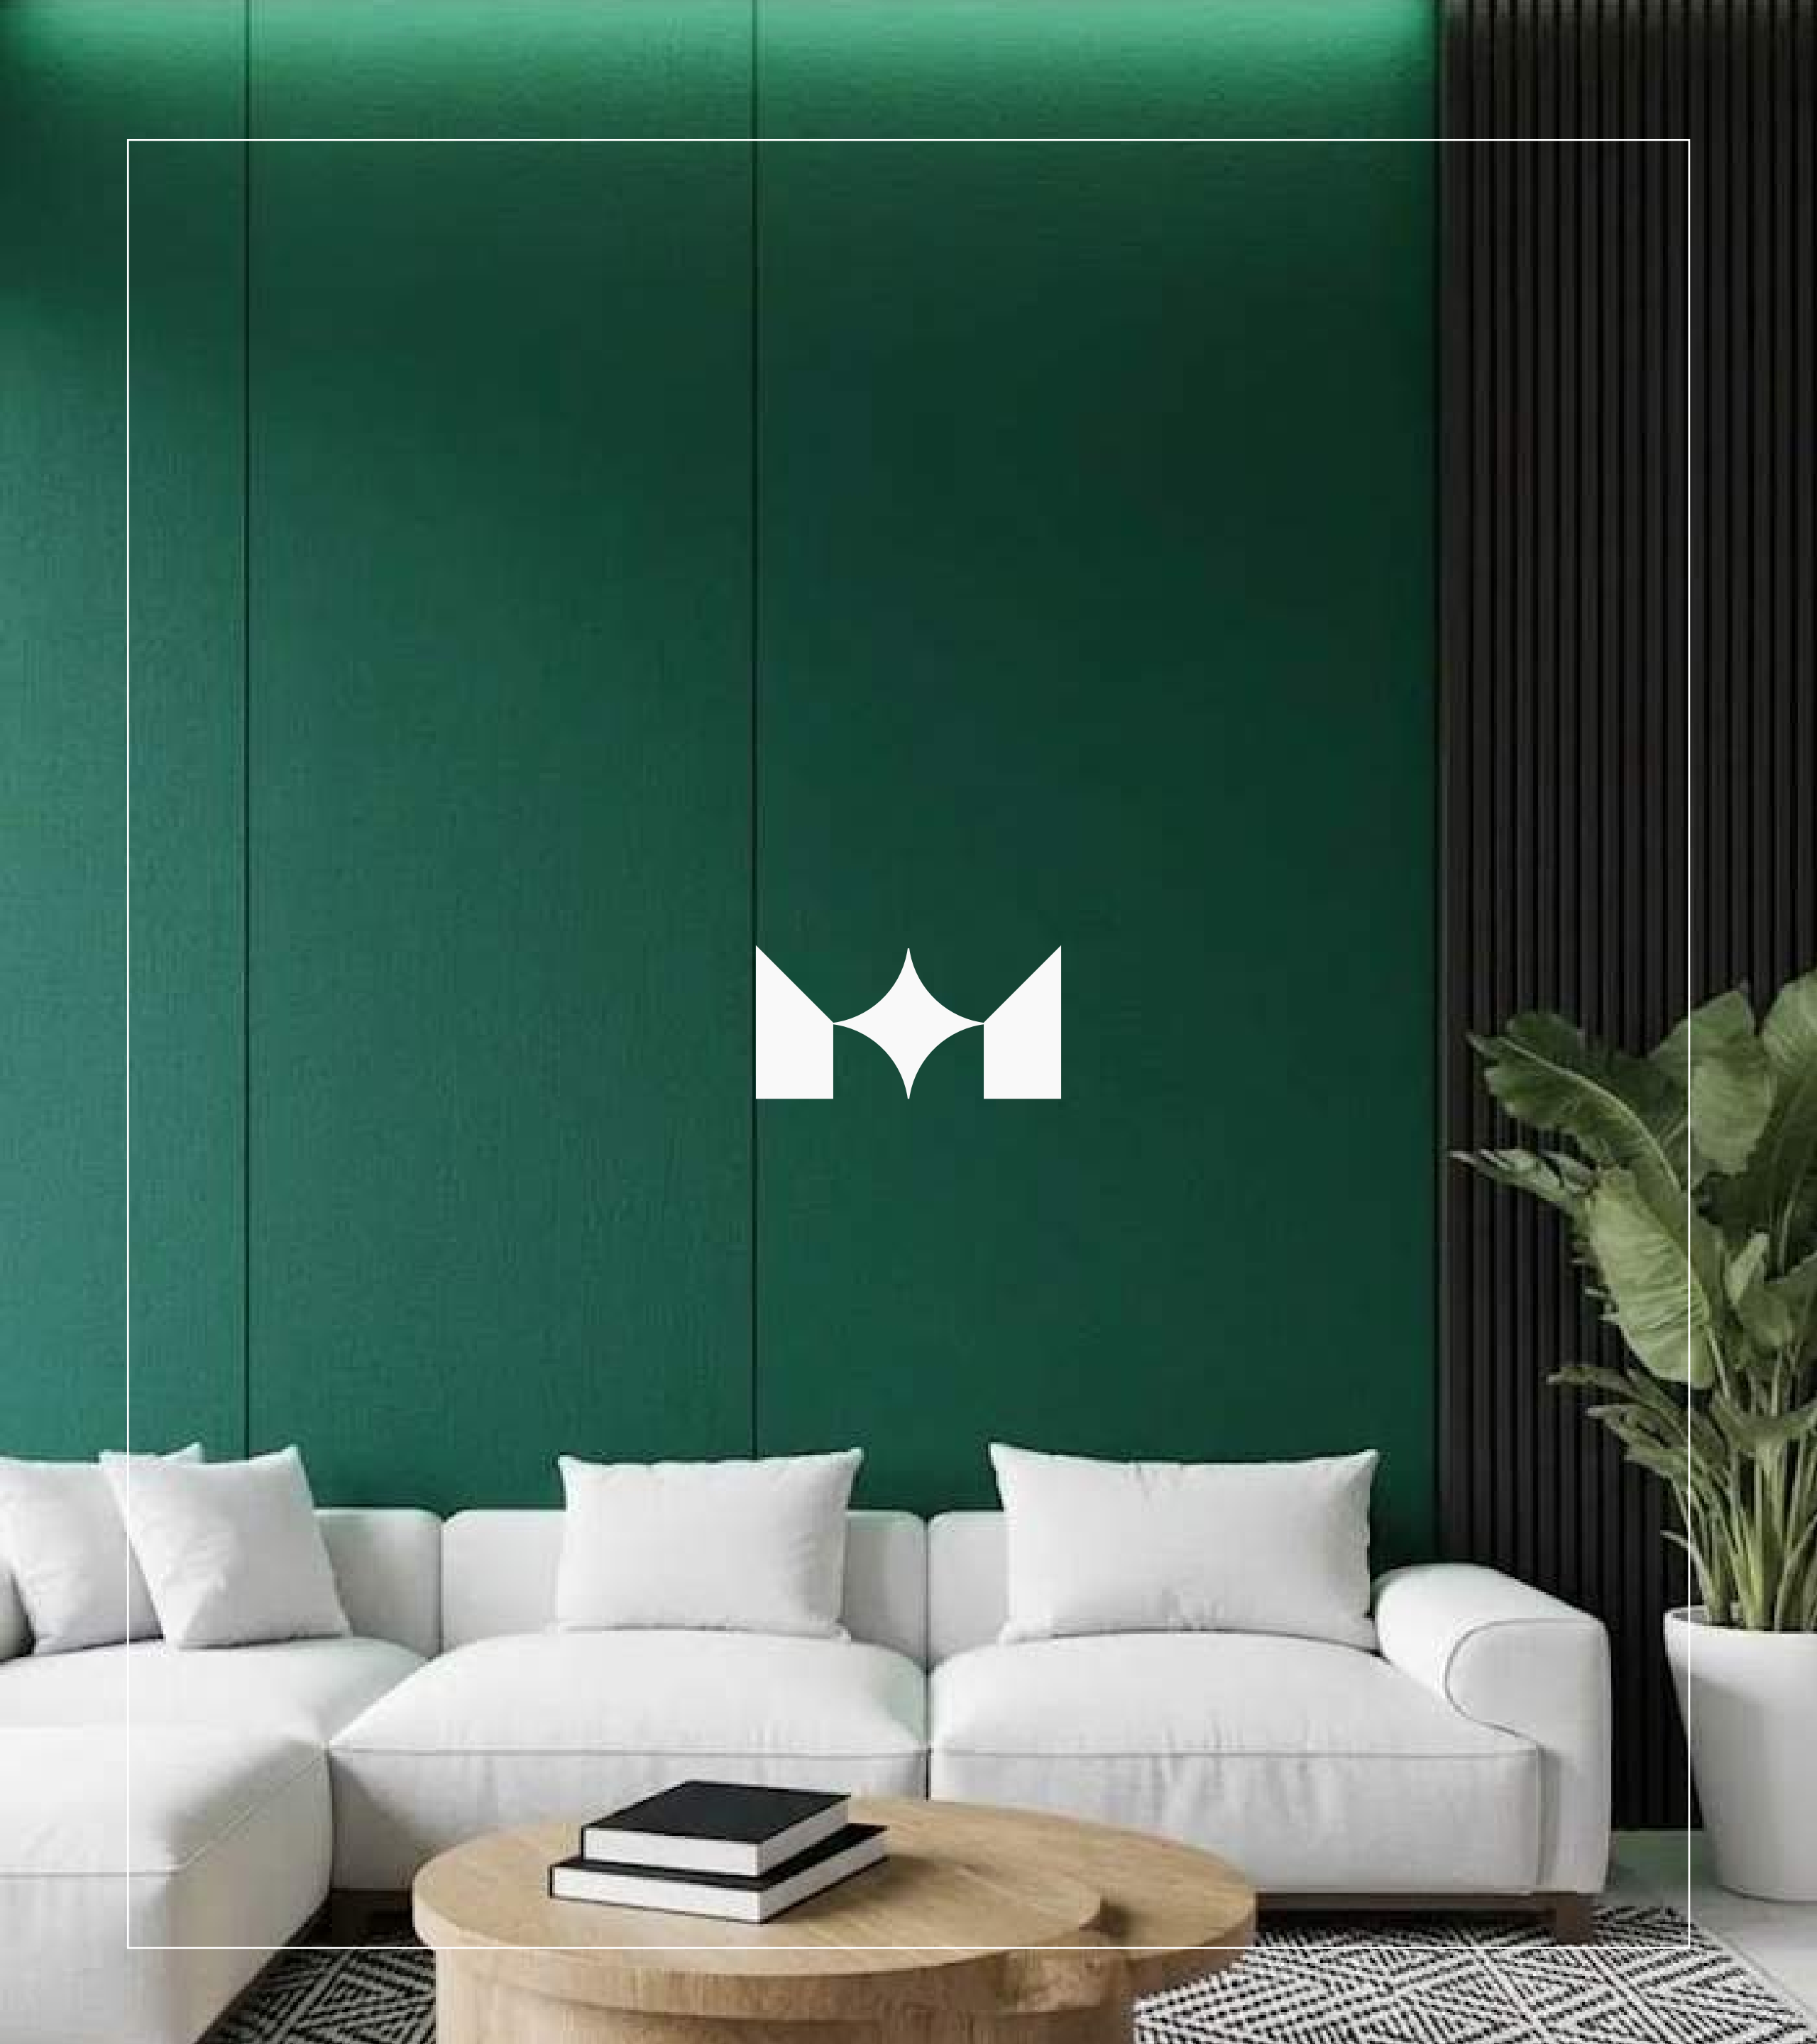

LOGO DESIGN CONCEPT

This geometric mark places a star between two angular forms, forming an abstract M. It shows one centered mind expanding into many disciplines, matching The Maram’s clear, structured way of thinking.

Scripted The Maram features a star over the M. Flowing letters and the star mark one centered identity expanding with quiet confidence, aligning to the brand’s clear structure.

The Maram was built on a simple belief: that clarity comes before creativity, not after. Every project starts with structure, because structure is what lets a vision hold its shape under pressure.
